ANNEXES BOTH ADDITIONS BUT REFUSES TO PAVE PERKINS

City Council in Special Session Last Night, Ends Long Controversy
With Factory Company.

ACTION COMES VERY SUDDENLY

A. L. Stewart, Representing Factory, Makes Bold Move, But is Successful in the End.

HE WANTED ALL OR NOTHING

Council Decides That Remonstrance
Against Improvement of Perkins
Street is Sufficient.

In special session last night the city council annexed the Belmont addition to Rushville and the Stewart & Tompkins addition to Belmont by suspending the rules and passing an ordinance to that effect and decided that the remonstrance filed against the improvement of Perkins street was sufficient to cause the petition to be null and void.

By annexing the two additions the city council gave water for fire protection to the Rushville Furniture Company and ended a controversy which has been worrying all Rushville for several weeks. It did not take so long to do it.

Ed Kelley moved that the city run a six-inch water main to the nearest point to the factory in the city limits so that the factory would have fire protection. Dr. C. H. Parsons seconded the motion. Alva Newhouse moved to amend the motion to the effect that the Stewart & Tompkins and the Belmont additions be annexed to Rushville in as much as a majority of the lot owners in the addition had petitioned the council to act that way. Dr. Parsons declared that Mr. Newhouse was out of order. Mayor B. A. Black attempted to show Mr. Newhouse that a majority of the lot owners had not petitioned the council when the ninety-six lot owners in Belmont were considered. Mayor Black was informed that there are only six lot owners in Belmont and that the petitioners were a majority. Dr. Parsons made a short speech about the spirit of the law and George F. Moore suggested that the main be run up Twelfth street to the factory. Dr. Parsons said no, and A. L. Stewart of the factory company arose and said that the company would not use the water if the council did run a main up without admitting the addition. The council was taken unawares apparently at that. After a short whispered conference Messrs. Kelly and Newhouse withdrew their motion and amendment and Mr. Kelley moved that the council take in both additions. Dr. Parsons made it unanimous, but no without explaining his vote and dying hard.

The sounding of the death knell of the Perkins street petition required more time and a little lobbying besides a conference between the council, the mayor, and the city attorney in a small ante-room. The question hinged on one thing primarily, and several side issues. John H. Kiplinger, attorney for the petitioners asserted that in case of a joint title both husband and wife are allowed to petition or remonstrate and in that event there would be thirty-nine resident property owners on the street. There were only eighteen remonstrators which would not be a majority. J. T. Arbuckle, attorney for the remonstrators, held the opposite. Mr. Kiplinger asserted also that the council was proceeding under the wrong statute and that under the correct one sixty per cent of the resident property owners are required to kill the petition and that it should be filed before or at the time of the filing of the preliminary resolution. This remonstrance was filed nine days after the resolution was drawn up. Councilmen Kelley and Newhouse made strange explanations for their votes. It was proposed to pave Perkins street from the southern terminus to Seventh street.

As the first order of business City Attorney Howard Barrett read the names of the resident property owners as he had found them. It was his opinion that when property is held in joint title, only one, either the husband or wife, may either remonstrate or petition. He believed that if either the husband or wife owned property alone on the same street, the single owner of the property is also entitled to sign either. The city attorney said he believed the Catholic church should not be considered as it was supposed to be the property of the bishop and he cited the fact that the statute on the question says resident freeholder. It was his opinion that the school city is entitled to the rights of a resident property owner. He read from the Acts of 1907 in attempting to show that he believed the county, as well as the school corporation, is entitled to the same rights. Basing his restriction and admission of names as resident property owners of Perkins street as he explained it, the city attorney said that there were thirty-five on that part of the street which the petitioners would improve. He read an opinion of Judge Montgomery's in a gravel road case to uphold his assertion that joint titles are considered as one on a petition or remonstrance.

J. T. Arbuckle, the remonstrator's attorney, first attempted to show the city attorney and the city council

EXPRESS REGARD FOR NEW PASTOR

Indianapolis Methodist Episcopal
Ministerial Association Adopts Resolutions.

COMES HERE FROM CAPITOL

The Methodist Episcopal Ministerial Association of Indianapolis has drafted resolutions, expressing their esteem and high regard for the Rev. W. H. Wylie, the new pastor of the St. Paul M. E. church who came here from Indianapolis. The resolutions follow:

Be it resolved by the Methodist Episcopal Ministerial Association of the City of Indianapolis that we do, hereby, tender our brother, the Rev'd William H. Wylie, A. M., recently assigned by Bishop William F. McDowell to the pastorate of the First Methodist Episcopal church of Rushville, our heartiest expression of esteem and love. The four years' pastorate—just closed—of Brother Wylie at the Capitol Avenue Methodist Episcopal church has been crowned with signal success. In our Ministerial Association his presence has been an unremitting source of inspiration and uplift. Always and everywhere he is the same noble, high-minded, scholarly, Christian gentleman. In his new field we bespeak for him and his the highest measure of success. Our prayers will always follow him and for ourselves his prayers we ever shall sincerely crave.

Indianapolis, Ind., Sept. 25, 1911.
On behalf of the Association.

MOTHER-IN-LAW SPOILS A HOME

That is Comment of Judge Blair in Refusing Divorce For Trolly McCrory.

MARRIED SHORT TIME AGO

Verdicts Returned in a Number of Cases on Closing Day of Court—60 For Term.

Too much mother-in-law was the comment of Judge Alonzo Blair today in refusing a divorce for Trolly McCrory from her husband, Ernest R. McCrory in circuit court. It is the first divorce that the court has refused to grant since he has been on the bench in the Rush-Shelby judicial district. A number of cases were wiped off the docket today, this being the closing day of the September term of court.

In returning his verdict in the divorce case, Judge Blair remarked that both the plaintiff and the defendant should be taken home and spanked. They are both very young and have been married only a short time. The court admonished the two mother-in-laws to go home and try to make their children happy as man and wife instead of coming to court and attempting to separate them. He warned them not to mix in their children's affairs and said that he believed they were the sole cause for the trouble between the two.

Approximately sixty cases have been acted upon this term of court. Although there have been few jury trials the court has been very busy as has the clerk. A good many cases were decided on the last day of the court and it wound up in a rush. There have been few important cases.

Next term of court promises to be the heaviest one in Rush county for some time. The court completed his court calendar for next term late this afternoon and already there are cases set for every day of the term with five exceptions. A number of cases will be filed in the next five weeks. The Osborne manslaughter case will be tried on Thursday of the first week.

The defendant defaulted in the case of the Security Life Insurance Company against Morris M. Winship

TAKES SEWARD CASE UNDER ADVISEMENT

Judge Gray Hears Appeal From Local Board of Commissioners in Con-nersville This Morning.

LOCAL OFFICIALS TESTIFY

The case of Basil Seward, who appealed from the decision of the Rush county board of commissioners, after the commissioners refused to grant him a license to sell liquor in Rushville, was heard by Judge Gray in the Fayette circuit court in Connersville this morning. Seward took a change of venue from the local court to Connersville after he appealed to it. The case was taken under advisement by Judge Gray.

City Clerk Tom Cauley attended the trial. He took the records of the last city election which were needed in the hearing. County Auditor Jesse M. Stone attended and testified as to the vote of the commissioners on the question. Dennis O'Neil, prosecutor, attended also.

WILL BE NOTABLE DAY IN THIS CITY

Tuesday is Looked Forward to as One
Which Will go Down in History.

AS GREATEST EVER IN COUNTY

Two Brass Bands Are Employed, Arrangements Are Completed—
Nothing to do But Wait.

Inclement weather is the only thing that could possibly spoil "Sherman day" which will be celebrated in Rushville next Tuesday. Barring rain it will go down as one of the most-to-be-remembered days in the history of the city. Everything points to a crowd that will shatter all records in Rushville.

Arrangements are all completed for the day. The committees have their duties well in hand and it is predicted that the day's program will move off without a hitch. The merchants have subscribed to the fund liberally to pay the expenses of the day and there will be no need of figuring to the pennies in order to meet the expenses of the day.

It is the Rushville Retail Merchants Association treat. They will pay all of the expenses of the day which will amount to approximately two hundred dollars before every bill is paid. In fact, it's on the merchants this time. Every effort will be made to make the people of this and adjoining counties feel at home when they come here to hear and shake hands with Rushville's bevy of distinguished citizens.

Vice-Presidents of the United States do not stop off in every small city like Rushville for a little sojourn. It is seldom that a city the size of Rushville is honored by such a visitor. Rushville and Rush county people as well as those of nearby counties should take advantage of the opportunity to see and hear the vice-president of the United States at close range. It is thought that the people who can come to Rushville conveniently for the day will be here.

The city will be wreathed in red, white and blue. It was deemed wisest by the committee on decoration to decorate the city in the national colors since men of national reputation who are holding public offices will be here. Bunting and flags will be stretched across the streets and along the sidewalks. Each and every merchant plans to take advantage of the situation and beautify their stores both on the exterior and interior with the red, white and blue. It is likely that many people in the residence district will honor the guests of the city by displaying the national colors in front of their homes.

Senator John W. Kern of Indianapolis will be a guest here on that day and it is expected that Senator Benjamin F. Shively of South Bend will also be present. The two United States senators will be seated on the speakers' stand with the vice-president and will make short talks. The speakers' stand will be located on the west court house lawn between the entrance and the northwest corner. It will be decorated in red, white and blue and will be adorned with the large pictures of the honored guests. It has been definitely arranged that Anthony Schrichte, president of the Rushville Retail Merchants Association shall be the master of ceremonies in that the association will act as host on that day. Mr. Schrichte will preside when the statesmen appear.

Yesterday the Arlington band of seventeen pieces was employed to play during the day. This means that two brass bands will be here all day which will provide enough music for the day. The Rushville band has been employed for several days.

Arrangements have been completed for the special car over the Indianapolis & Cincinnati Traction line which will carry the reception committee of twenty members to Indianapolis Tuesday to meet the vice-president. The car is furnished free by the traction company but it will be necessary to pay the transportation.

New Castle, where Vice-President Sherman will go from here on Wednesday morning for a big non-partisan celebration that day, has not fared so well as Rushville. Senator Kern and Senator Shively have found it impossible to be there as have James Hemenway, former United States senator, and Joseph Cannon, former speaker, both of whom will be here in the evening for the Republican love feast.

RESENTS CHANGE MADE BY WITNESS

Dennis O'Neil, Prosecutor, Wants to Know Why Alex Sorrell Said
he Was Drunk.

BLOWS ARE BARELY AVERTED

According to eye witnesses, blows were narrowly averted late yesterday afternoon following the Sorrell trial in the circuit court, when Dennis O'Neil, prosecutor of this judicial district, resented the testimony which Alex Sorrell gave in the case. Quite unexpectedly Sorrell said on the witness stand that a certain trial, the date of which the attorney for Sorrell's son was attempting to ascertain, had to be postponed because the prosecutor was drunk.

Charles Sorrell, son of Alex Sorrell, filed suit for personal damages from Glen Miller as the result of a fight. The trial was held in circuit court yesterday and Sorrell was testifying in his son's behalf. George Young, the younger Sorrell's attorney, was questioning the witness as to the time the assault and battery case, the outgrowth of the fight, was held in Mayor's court. The elder Sorrell said that he was summoned April 3, but that the trial was not held until the next day for the reason mentioned above.

WOLTERS GOES TO MAT WITH BATES

Policeman Arrests Lightweight Aspirant of Cincinnati Who Gets
on a Spree Here.

HE CREATES A DISTURBANCE

Policeman John Wolters is not an aspirant for the prize ring, but he did land a lightweight prize fighter in jail this morning. Jack Bates of Cincinnati, who is well known in boxing circles, caused somewhat of a disturbance at the C. H. & D. passenger station last night and Policeman Wolters was called. Bates flourished a pint bottle of whiskey and he and the policeman went to the mat. Bates was not in good form, due to the load he had aboard, and Policeman Wolters succeeded in wresting the bottle from him. Bates was lodged in jail this morning and the police expected to sober him up and start him out of the city this evening. He had no money to pay a fine and would have to have been boarded by the county.

CONNERSVILLE HOSTS COMING

Big Crowd.

DEMOCRATIC CHAIRMAN'S ACT

In Personal Letters Sent Over State
Infers Republican Love Feast
is Select Affair.

Special cars will be operated between this city and Indianapolis on Tuesday evening when the big Republican love feast will be held here and the Indianapolis & Cincinnati Traction Company has offered a special rate for the occasion. It is thought that the crowd will be swelled to more than five hundred even.

Information from every source leads the members of the committee in charge of the love feast to believe that the largest crowd of notable Republicans that ever gathered in Indiana outside of Indianapolis will be here. Word has been received from Connersville that two special cars on the traction line have been chartered for the Republicans. An effort is being made to procure an excursion from Muncie over the L. E. & W.

Following in the footsteps of Rush county Republicans, the Democrats of the city have arranged for a reception to be held in the Modern Woodmen hall Tuesday evening, while the Republican love feast is in full swing, in honor of B. F. Shively of South Bend, and John W. Kern of Indianapolis, the two United States senators from Indiana. Mark Purcell, county chairman of the Democratic party has sent out "special" invitations, calling for the Democrats to gather here. The invitation ends up with the following two paragraphs:

It is well known that the Merchants Association of Rushville and the citizens generally on said day will give a non-partisan reception to the Hon. James S. Sherman, vice-president of the United States, and these senators, but at the hour of six p. m. we arrive at the parting of the ways, the Republicans holding a standpat meeting at a remote corner of the city, and the Democrats in the center of the city.

The Republicans will be there on invitation (specially). The Democrats will open the doors to all. Many Democrats of prominence are invited from a distance and are expected to be present.

Bring with you any Democrats who desire to attend.

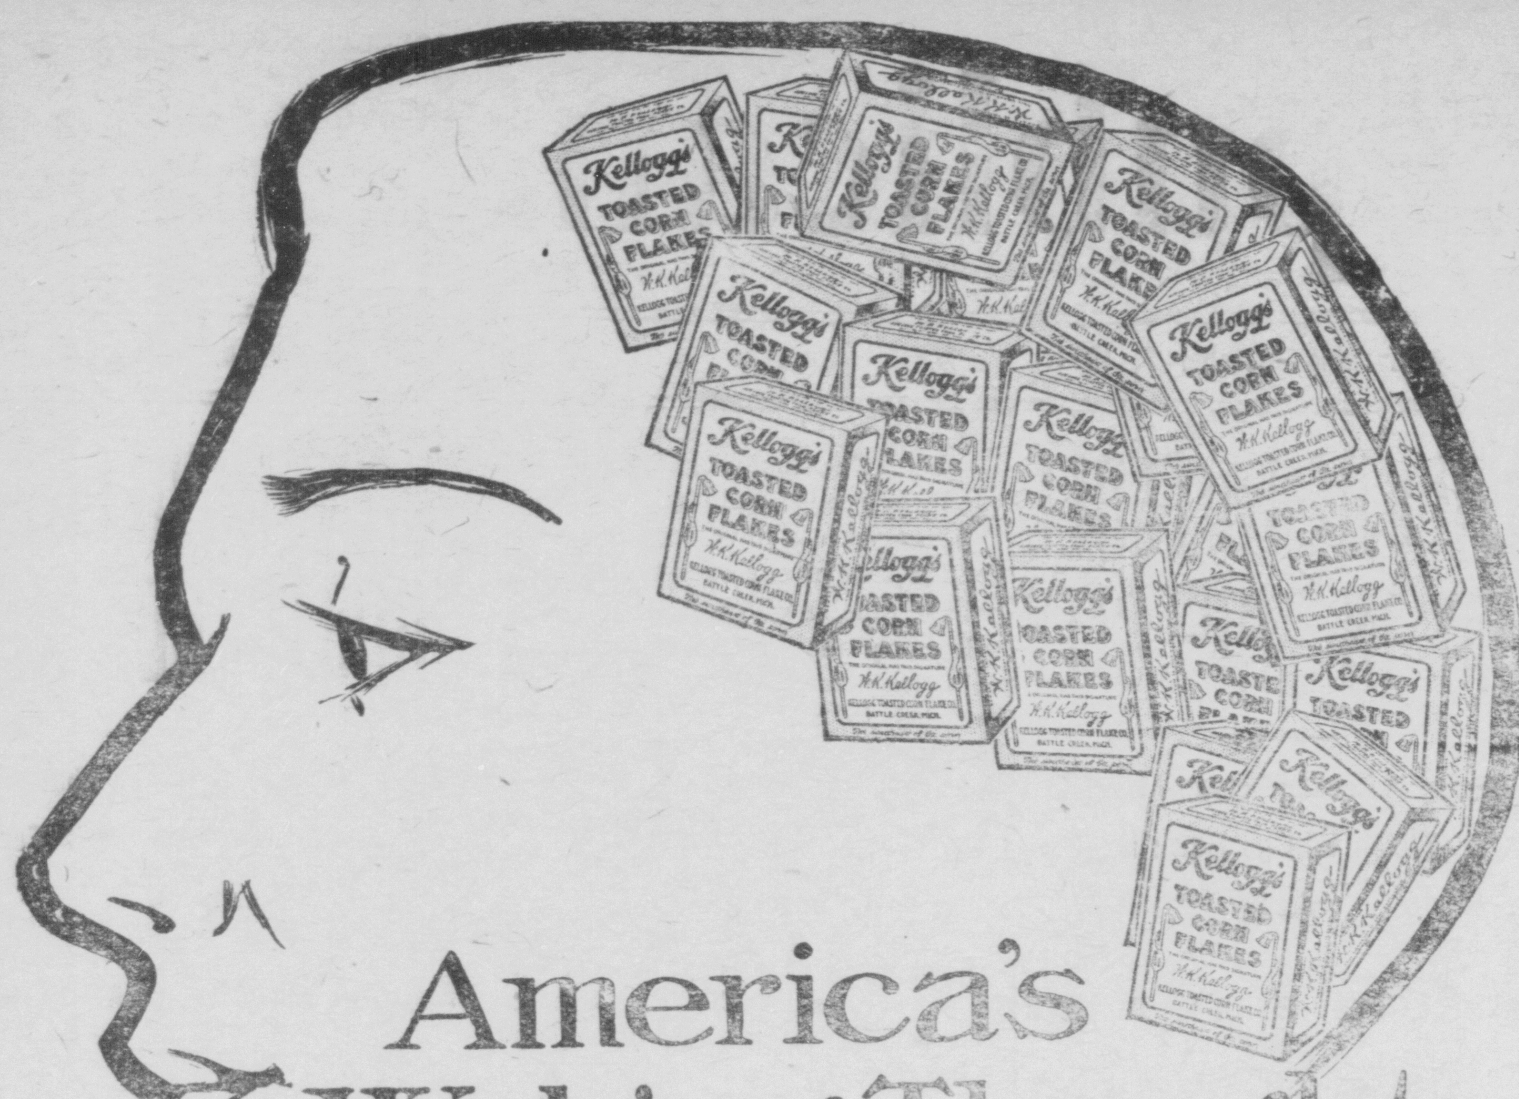

The local county chairman knows full well, as does every other Republican and Democrat in the county, that every Republican and Democrat for that matter, is urged to attend the Republican love feast. Yet, acting as several Democratic newspapers in this section of the State have the Rush county Democratic organization seeks to infer that the Republican love feast is a very select affair.

Mr. Purcell and the local organization invited the Democratic hosts by the same method as did the Republicans, with personal letters, only that they are somewhat belated and not so great in number. A Democrat should have as much reason to feel slighted as a Republican. However, there is no occasion for such a thing.

The Connersville News says of the crowd which is coming for the Republican love feast:

The announcement in the News, last evening, on the authority of the committee at Rushville, that the meeting at that place on the evening of "Sherman day" was general, acted like "Dr. Dippy Elixer," as illustrated in a local nickel show, last night, on the Republicans of the city

IDAHO INSURGENCY LACKS LEADERSHIP

Situation as Disclosed By Mr. Taft's Visit.

Boise, Idaho, Oct. 7.—The president made three scheduled stops in Idaho, at Pocatello, Caldwell and Boise, but he made nearly a dozen short rear-end speeches at smaller towns along the route.

The situation in Idaho seems favorable to Mr. Taft for the renomination. Though the percentage of insurgency, as an individual creed among the voters, is high, the insurgent politicians have found no leader and there is no prospect practically of any concerted opposition to the president crystallizing before the election of the delegates next spring. Senator Borah, who seems to be the only man to whom the progressives could look for such leadership, is playing the same game at home out here that he played in the senate. He is holding aloof and following the lines of his own peculiar and effective progressiveness. As a matter of political expediency he seems to be leaning toward Mr. Taft for the nomination if he is leaning any way at all.

The president in his speeches in Idaho devoted most of his attention to the conduct of the interior department, which is the arm of the government most intimately connected with the people of this section of the country, where the administration and disposition of the public domain is so important a question. He has used every opportunity to sing the praises of his new progressive secretary of the interior, Walter I. Fisher of Chicago. "A pusher from Chicago," is the appellation that the president gave Mr. Fisher.

LAUDABLE MOVE.

Columbus Republican: In sending out the announcement for the Rushville love feast, James E. Watson takes occasion to state that personally he is not a candidate for any office, but is merely seeking to take advantage of Mr. Sherman's presence to have a meeting of the character mentioned, and the purpose is certainly a laudable one, and will doubtless be of great value to the Republican party in Indiana at this time.

TRIED IT HERE, TOO.

SKY RACERS REPORT AT VARIOUS POINTS

Result of the Kansas City Balloon Contest.

Kansas City, Oct. 7.—Only three of the entrants in the contest for the James Gordon Bennett international trophy are reported as still in the air. Six of the balloons which started from here Thursday are reported as having landed.

The balloon Berlin I, with Lieutenant Leopold Voght as pilot, landed safely 345 miles from Kansas City, at Austin, Minn.

The America II, with Pilot William F. Assmann and Aide J. Hulbert, came down at Emmetsburg, Ia., 300 miles from Kansas City. It struck the roof of a grain elevator and Hulbert's nose was bruised.

The balloon Buckeye, Lieutenant Frank P. Lahm pilot, and J. H. Wade, Jr., aide, landed in a field ten miles north of Sparta, Wis., about 290 miles from Kansas City.

The Pennsylvania, pathfinder and altitude entrant, landed safely at Buffalo City, Ia.

Frank M. Jacobs and aide, with the Topeka II, landed at Dinwiddie, Minn., 325 miles from Kansas City.

The Kansas City II, landed at Kennan, Wis.

The balloon pilots unreported are: Captain John Berry, in the St. Louis balloon, Million Population Club; Emile Dubonnet, flying for France in the Condor; and Lieutenant Gericke, in the Berlin III.

TEN THOUSAND SLAIN

This is the Estimate of Losses in Rebellion in Shee-Chuan.

Chengtu, Oct. 7.—It is estimated that 10,000 persons were killed in the recent disturbances in the province of Shee-Chuan, which were caused by the rebellion of a part of the people against the government's railroad plans.

Of the dead 2,000 were soldiers and the others rebels. Ten thousand rebels are in possession of several cities southwest of Chengtu. Soldiers are marching against them. The Methodists state that as a result of the uprising thousands of natives are homeless and many, becoming desperate, committed suicide.

CONCLUDE TO GO SEPARATE WAYS

Booth Tarkington and Wife No Longer Congenial.

THE AUTHOR'S ROVING HABITS

Proved Too Much For Mrs. Tarkington, It Is Said, and Announcement Is Made That the Latter Has Taken a Separate Home and Will Let "The Gentleman From Indiana" Shift for Himself.

Indianapolis, Oct. 7.—It is a matter of common report here that Mrs. Tarkington, wife of the author of "The Gentleman From Indiana" and other novels, and her husband have separated. She has told some of her friends that they will not live together again, and has taken a house in another section of the city as a place of residence for herself and child. During the summer the old Tarkington homestead at Pennsylvania and Eleventh streets was redecorated and many improvements made upon it, and it was given out that it would be the future home of Mr. and Mrs. Tarkington. To this house many of the belongings of Mrs. Tarkington were taken and are still there. The announcement that they will not again live together has caused a great deal of surprise among their friends, but it is now known that for several weeks members of the family have been cognizant of the lack of harmony between the author and his wife and have been hoping that the trouble would be amicably settled. It is understood among their friends that the disagreements arose over the wandering life that Tarkington desired to lead, while his wife wishes to enjoy the quiet of a permanent home and cares nothing for the life of Paris, London and New York, which is so attractive to him.

Mr. Tarkington when here will occupy the old home at Pennsylvania and Eleventh streets. What settlement if any has been reached between the husband and wife in respect to the custody of the little daughter is not known. There are no property interests at stake, as Mrs. Tarkington, who was the daughter of the late Stoughton J. Fletcher, from whom she inherited about a million dollars, has the property all in her own name.

Doesn't Want to Discuss It.

New York, Oct. 7.—When told of the story from Indianapolis that his wife was living apart from him, Booth Tarkington said: "I should not like to discuss the matter at all."

HE MADE GOOD

Preacher Is Said to Have Supplied Information to Grand Jury.

Terre Haute, Ind., Oct. 7.—Rev. J. G. Campbell was before the Vigo county grand jury for an hour, and it is understood he was "loaded" with definite information of the alleged connivance of the police with wide open conditions in the resort districts of Terre Haute.

He had definite information as to policemen's numbers to show that they spend idle time in disorderly places. It is said that there is at hand much other information.

TO GO HIGHER

Supreme Court Will Sit on the Indiana Constitution Case.

Indianapolis, Oct. 7.—After Judge Remster of the circuit court had filed his conclusions of law and special findings of facts in the constitution case, the necessary formalities for taking an appeal from Judge Remster's recent decision that the act for the proposed new state constitution is unconstitutional, were disposed of and Judge Remster granted the petition of the attorneys for the defense for an appeal to the Indiana supreme court.

Anyway we should all shake hands
with each other that the question is settled for all time.

The college freshmen are now being hazed for infringing on the exclusive rights of the other classes to be fresh.

As the fatalities in the Austin disaster are reduced from 1000 to less than 100, the Austin people are evidently good sprinters.

If the stock market really want our sympathy for their losses, their wives
must somehow manage this winter
to get along with their last year's diamonds.

From the extensive vocabulary
employed by Senator Bailey of Texas
we feel sure that he would have been a success as an Erie canal driver or a Mississippi river pilot.

If we were a coast to coast aviator
we should load the craft on a commodious wheel-barrow and start out over the highway, with some hopes of getting there.

Turkey has a very good army, but
she can't do anything to Italy with it,
other than capture such banana
stands as may be found about Constantinople.

It is customary to tell every American boy that there was a chance of his being president, but now they stimulate his ambition much more by saying he might become a foot ball
coach.

Now that Dr. Wiley is the whole thing in the bureau of chemistry, we wish he would take up the matter of these frozen wind desserts which housekeepers are substituting for good honest old pie.

There is a hasty looking over of power plants since the Austin disaster, but a dam can not be properly inspected merely by sitting in the office and smoking the proprietor's
cigars of delicate aroma.

Woodrow Wilson condemns frivolous church music Good. You can't make a con song into a psalm tune merely by changing the names of "Rastus" and "Chloe" into "Noah"
and "Jonah."

The tax payers who growl about
the short life of a $10,000,000 war
ship should be consoled. Even if they last but five years the navy will find them handy after wars as targets for
the jacks to practice shooting at.

We take issue with Mr. Kelley who said that he did not understand the questions involved in determining who is and who is not a resident property
owner on any given street and then
voted to kill the petition to improve Perkins. Really, if Mr. Kelley did not understand the question he should have refused to vote.

But the Perkins street petitioners have proved already that they can rise out of the ashes of their dead
selves, as such a petition has been defeated before, and there is every reason to believe that they will win in the end and Perkins street will be paved.
Anyway, it's a safe wager.

Dr. Parsons was angry for a minute at the council meeting last night
when the factory company notified
the council that it would not use city water piped to the factory unless the addition was annexed. He asserted hotly that the councilmen should resign if they are to be dictated to by the merchants and the factory owners. We feel sure that no one has dictated to this city council and we feel even more certain that neither the merchants nor the factory owners
made any suggestions in the spirit of a dictator.

The city council did it last night,
something which it should have done
several weeks ago, but that's neither here nor there since the council has read the handwriting on the wall and admitted that public sentiment is sufficient to cause it to change its course.

It makes little difference about the
whys and wherefores of the act inasmuch as it was done and the distastefful controversy is ended. We should all rejoice over the fact and also that the new factory has been admitted to Rushville. It can now proceed as it first planned and make up for the delay caused by the failure of the council to see just what the people wanted. The majority of the lot owners petitioning for the annexation of the addition is sufficient evidence of how sentiment on the question was, especially when the lot owners will have to pay city taxes on their unimproved
property after it is annexed.

EDITORIALETTES.

That council meeting last night offered more thrills for one evening's performance than a western drama
with a hold-up included would ever attempt.

Well, the Perkins street petition
must be buried once more but the resurrecting qualities of the petitioners on that street are something wonderful and the same old paper
may be looked for most any time.

"The drunken man vociferated raucously," opines an exchange. For the benefit of our readers who abhor
such terms we will explain that in common English it means the drunk
squealed something awful when the cop put him in the pen.

Jack Bates, a Cincinnati lightweight, we are told, was put in the county bastille by Policeman Walters.
'Tis related by reliable persons that the officer had somewhat of a little encounter with the ring artist before he wrestled a pint of whiskey from his grasp. Don't suppose John will be dreaming of the dusky champion
now?

We don't suppose that the "spirit of the law" mixes with any of the common spirits nowadays—and hereabouts.

We know—of course, we mention
no names—of a young woman of twenty summers who has a twin brother of twenty-nine. And it's a rare case, too.

As we see it from the corner it appears that a man has a right to say what he pleases on the witness stand
as long as the court don't stop him.

There is at least one thing to be said for pawpaws—few people ever
mistake them for toadstools.

estate of Sarah A. Root, deceased, against Elizabeth Spahr, et al., which was in the form of a petition to sell real estate, the court ordered the property sold to pay debts.

The defendant defaulted in the case of the Medieura Food Company
against Herman Rolfes on an account for $125 and the court made trial findings and judgment for the plaintiff in the sum of $94.12.

The partition suit of Susie M.
Lipps against Ollie J. Laurimore et
al. was settled by the court today.

The case of Edward Dolan against Edward Joyce for quiet title, possession and damages of $100, was dismissed and the costs paid. Edward Joyce committed suicide recently which was the cause for the dismissal. The case arose as the result of a dispute over a line fence.

The partition suit of Eva Offatt et al. against Paul R. Offatt et al., in which Frank Mull is commissioner,
was finally settled by the court today.

The case of Thomas C. McBarney,
as administrator of estate of Daniel Newkam, deceased, against George W. Fleener et al. to foreclose a mortgage, demanding $1,200 was settled in court. It was an important suit and was sent here from Fayette county.

The jury in the case of Sorrell

FOOTBALL RULES CHANGED

Have Been Revised in Several Instances.

Football rules for the season of 1911 have been revised in several instances in the wording and elucidat-
ed by comment as to interpretation
of a meeting of the intercollegiate football rules committee. The forward pass rule was one chiefly discussed and it underwent the most important change of any made by the committee. Any forward pass made from behind the goal line and which is not fully completed was ruled a safety. This changes last year's ruling, which held that on uncompleted
forward pass, made behind the goal line on the first or second down, the ball must be brought back and be counted an extra down, it being only
a safety on the third down.

OFFICIALS GO TO WINONA.

A nine pound boy was born to the wife of Roscoe Lefforge, living twelve miles south of the city last evening.

The Ladies Auxiliary of the Ben Davis Creek church will hold a market in this city Saturday, Oct. 21. Committee, Mrs. Cliff Haskett, Mrs. Ida Gray, Mrs. J. D. Austin.

The Rev. W. H. Wylie will preach Sunday morning at the St. Paul M. E. church on the subject, "From Principles to Perfection," and in the evening at seven-thirty on the topic, "The Constraint of Love."

AMUSEMENTS

The Palace last night showed a Lubin film, "The Gypsy," which proved to be one of the best pictures ever shown here. It is a realistic story of gypsy life. "The Two Gun Men" is an Essanay and is a western drama and has such a plot that gives it the right to be entitled such.

The Portola's feature program pleased large audiences last evening, and it will be reproduced this evening. "The Last Drop of Water," a stirring Biograph drama was clearly the best and most profoundly interesting of the three. "By the Aid of a Lariat" stands among the best western dramas ever shown here.

A musical comedy and a straight farce will be seen at English's in Indianapolis next week. William Hawtrey, the English actor, supported by a London company, will open the week in "Dear Old Billy," a farce, said to rival "Charley's Aunt" and other plays of that type. During the last half of the week, Nora Bayes and Jack Norworth, both of them famous as song writers, singers and players, will be seen in the musical comedy, "Little Miss Fix-It," for which they themselves composed the music.

Much curiosity has been aroused among those who are the keenest followers of dramatic developments in New York by the announcement of the production of "The Fatted Calf" at the Shubert Murat theater, Indianapolis, October 12, 13 and 14. First came the statement that it was an absolute departure from the conventions of comedy writing—a play in which the solution of principal situations carried on actual justification of the theories of "New Thought." Of course, Broadway is used to announcements of this sort, but passing interest was distinctly quickened when the names of the players in Mr. Hopkins' new piece became known. It is generally admitted that such a well-balanced and capable cast of dramatic actors and actresses has not been assembled in many seasons. The principals of the company include Miss Marjorie Wood, who for the last two years has been leading lady with Robert Edeson; Robert McWade, Jr., who recently played with the managing editor in "The Fourth Estate" and the broken-down newspaper man in "The Country Boy" with much distinction; Frank Sheridan, who was the creator of the part of Captain Williams in "Paid in Full" and a number of other actors of enviable reputation both in this country and in England.

LARGE CLASS CONFIRMED

Father Cronin Assists in Services at Columbus Church.

For the first time in three years confirmation services were held last night at St. Bartholomew's Catholic church in Columbus, and the largest class in the history of the church, composed of over 100 school children was confirmed. Bishop Chartrand of Indianapolis, Rev. Father Widerin of North Vernon, Rev. W. J. Cronin of Rushville; Rev. Father Conrad of Seymour, Rev. Father Kaelin of Shelbyville, Rev. Father Baur of Madison and other well-known priests were present and assisted in the services.

GRAND JURY HAS KNIGHTSTOWN DAY

Henry County Body Devotes Friday to Investigating "Blind Tigers" in That Place.

MANY WOMEN ARE WITNESSES

Friday was Knightstown day before the grand jury, and the metropolis of Wayne township, the alleged home of the blind tiger and the bootlegger, was represented by fifty or more citizens and "citizenesses," who were called to testify before the board of criminal inquiry in regard to law violations in Knightstown and Wayne township, says the New Castle Courier.

Included in the number of witnesses were two young girls, scarcely in their teens. They were the merriest of the Knightstown bunch and skipped about the corridors of the court house in the happiest sort of a manner. Other witnesses included pastors of the various churches in Knightstown, Peter Wagner, the town marshal and a number of merchants and professional men.

The entire day was devoted by the grand jury in investigating the blind tiger situation and other reported violations of the liquor law at Knightstown. Among the witnesses were those who had sent letters to the authorities.

AMANDA J. DAVIS DIES IN ANDERSON

Third Former Resident of Rush County Expires in That City Within the Week.

BURIAL IN CENTER TOWNSHIP

Mrs. Amanda J. Davis, 70, passed away Friday morning at the home of her daughter, Mrs. John Thornburgh, corner of Third and Hendricks street, says the Anderson Herald. Mrs. Davis was twice married, her first husband being George E. Seruggs. To this union were born, D. B. Seruggs, Indianapolis, and Mrs. John Thornburgh of Anderson. Mrs. Davis was a member of the Christian church at Center, Rush county. Funeral services will be conducted at John Thornburgh's home by Rev. J. Boyd Jones, Saturday afternoon at 12:30. Remains will be taken to Rush county. Services at her old home church at Center.

The body was taken from Anderson to Knightstown and thence to Center. The death of Mrs. Davis is the third one of former Rush county residents at Anderson during the week ending. Mrs. Wm. H. Branson, formerly of Rushville, was buried on Sunday last and Mrs. Sarah Jane Smith, formerly of Homer, died last Tuesday.

and county. It was almost like the closing days of a hot campaign to see them getting together, last night and today. All were eager to get busy and swell the attendance at the meeting and results have already developed.

Two traction cars have been chartered to take the "boys" to Rushville and at a late hour today there was talk of employing a band to go along and help swell the noise.

If other sections do as well Rushville's population will be more than doubled temporarily. And the nice thing about it is that country and city are working together here. The cars will leave the station here late enough to permit shop men and others to go, but early enough to be there when the festivities begin. The exact time has not yet been fixed.

"The Store That Satisfies"

THE GIRL from HIS TOWN

By MARIE VAN VORST
Illustrations by M. G. KEITNER

(Copyright, 1911, by The Bobbs-Merrill Co.)

This time two or three cards were sent in. One by one he saw the visitors refused, and Dan, without any formality, himself knocked at Letty Lane's small door, which Higgins opened, looked back over her shoulder to give him his name to her mistress, and said to Dan confidently, "Wait, sir; just wait a bit." Her lips were affable. And in a few moments, to Dan's astonished delight, the actress herself appeared, a big scarf over her head and her body enveloped in her snowy cloak, and he understood with a leap of his heart that she had singled him out to take her home.

She went before him through the wings to the stage entrance, which he opened for her, and she passed out before him into the fog and the mist. For the first time Blair followed her through the crowd, which was a big one on this night. On the one side waited the poor, who wished her many blessings, and on the other side her admirers, whose thoughts were quite different. Something of this flashed through Dan's mind—and in that moment he touched the serious part of life for the first time.

In Letty Lane's motor, the small electric light lit over their heads and the flower vase empty, he sat beside the fragrant human creature who London adored, and knew his place would have been envied by many a man.

"I took your friends to their place all right," he told her, "and I'm going to see them myself tomorrow. I advised the girl not to get married for her money. Say, this is awfully nice of you to let me take you home!"

She seemed small in his corner. "You were great tonight," Dan went on, "simply great! Wasn't the crowd crazy about you, though! How does it feel to stand there and hear them clap like a thunderstorm and call your name?"

She replied with effort. "It was a nice audience, wasn't it? Oh, I don't know how it feels. It is rather stim-lating. How's the other boy?" she asked abruptly, and when Dan had said that Ruggles had left him alone in London, she turned and laughed a little.

Dan asked her why she had sent for him today. "I'm mighty sorry I was out of town," he said sorrowfully. "Just to think you should have wanted me to do something for you and I didn't turn up. You know I would be glad to do anything. What was it? Won't you tell me what it was?"

"The Jew did it for me." And Dan exclaimed: "It made me simply sick to see that animal in your room. I would have kicked him out if I hadn't thought that it would make an unpleasant scene for you. We have passed the Savoy." He looked out of the window, and Letty Lane replied:

"I told the driver to go to the Carlton first."

She was taking him home then! "Well, you've got to come in and have some supper with me in that case," he cried eagerly, and she told him that she had taken him home because she knew that Mr. Ruggles would approve.

"Not much you won't," he said, and put his hand on the speaking tube, but she stopped him.

"Don't give any orders in my motor, Mr. Blair. You sit still where you are."

"Do you think that I am such a simple youth that I—"

Letty Lane with a gesture of supreme ennui said to him impatiently: "Oh, I just think I am pretty nearly tired to death; don't bother me. I want my own way."

Her voice and her gesture, her beauty and her indifference, her sort of vague lack of interest in him and in everything, put the boy, full of life as he was, out of ease, but he ventured, after a second:

"Won't you please tell me what you wanted me to do this afternoon?"

"Why, I was hard up, that's all. I have used all my salary for two months and I couldn't pay my bill at the Savoy."

"Lord!" he said fervently, "why didn't you—"

"I did. Like a fool I sent for you the first time, but I was awfully glad when five o'clock came you didn't turn up. Please don't bother or speak of it again."

And burning with curiosity as to what part Poniatowsky played in her life, Dan sat quiet, not venturing to put to her any more questions. She seemed so tired and so overcome by her own thoughts. When they had turned down toward the hotel, however, he decided that he must in honor tell her his news.

"Got some news to tell you," he exclaimed abruptly. "Want you to congratulate me. I'm engaged to be married to the Duchess of Breakwater. She happens to be a great admirer of your voice."

The actress turned sharply to him and in the dark he could see her little, white face. The covering over her head fell back and she exclaimed:

"Heavens!" and impulsively put her hands out over his. "Do you really mean what you say?"

"Yes." He nodded surprisedly.

"What do you look like that for?"

Letty Lane arranged her scarf and then drew back from him and laughed. "Oh, dear, dear, dear," she exclaimed, "and I . . . and I have been . . ." She looked up at him swiftly as though she fancied she might detect some new quality in him which she had not observed before, but she saw only his clear, kind eyes, his charming smile and his beautiful, young ignorance, and said softly to him:

"No use to cry, little boy, if it's true! But that woman isn't half good enough for you—not half, and I guess you think it funny enough to hear me say so! What does the other boy from Montana say?"

"Don't know," Dan answered indifferently. "Married him; didn't tell him about it before he left. You see he doesn't understand England—doesn't like it."

A little dazzled by the way each of the two women took the mention of the other, he asked timidly:

"You don't like the Duchess of Breakwater, then?"

And she laughed again. "Goodness gracious, I don't know her; actresses don't sit around with duchesses." Then abruptly, her beautiful eyes, under their curled dark lashes, full on him, she asked:

"Do you like her?"

"You bet!" he said ardently. "Of course I do. I am crazy about her." Yet he realized, as he replied, that he didn't have any inclination to begin to talk about his fiancée.

They had reached the Carlton and the door of Letty Lane's motor was held open.

"Better get out," he urged, "and have something to eat."

And she, leaning a little way toward him, laughed.

"Crazy! Your engagement will be broken off tomorrow." And she further said: "If I really thought it would, why I'd come like a shot."

As she leaned forward, her cloak slipping from her neck, revealing her throat above the dark collar of the simple dress she wore, he looked in her dove-gray eyes, and murmured:

"Oh, say, do come along and risk it. I'm game, all right."

She hesitated, then bade him good night languidly, slipping back into her old attitude of indifference.

"I am going home to rest. Good night. I don't think the duchess would let you go, no matter what you did!"

Dan, standing there at her motor door, this beautiful, well-known woman bantering him, leaning toward him, was conscious of her alone, all snowy and small and divine in her en-

"I hate to have you go back alone to the Savoy. I really do. Please let me—"

But she shook her head. "Tell the man the Savoy," and as Dan, carrying out her instructions, closed the door, he said: "I don't like that empty vase in there. Would you be very good and put some flowers in it if they came?"

She wouldn't promise, and he went on:

"Will you put only my flowers in that vase always hereafter?"

Then, "Why, of course not, goose," she said shortly. "Will you please let me close the door and go home?"

Dan walked into the Carlton when her bright motor had slipped away, his evening coat long and black flying its wings behind him, his hat on the back of his blond head, light of foot and step, a gay young figure among the late lingering crowd.

He went to his apartments and missed Ruggles in the lonely quiet of the sitting-room, but as the night before Ruggles had done, Dan in his bedroom window stood looking out at the mist and fog through which before his eyes the things he had lately seen passed and repassed, specter-like, waggled, across the gloom.

Finally, in spite of the fact that he was an engaged man with the responsibilities of marriage before him, he could think of but one thing to take with him when he finally turned to sleep. The face of the woman he was engaged to marry eluded him, but the face under the white hood of Letty Lane was in his dreams, and in his troubled visions he saw her shining, dove-like eyes.

CHAPTER XIV.

From India's Coral Strands.

Mrs. Higgins, in Miss Lane's apartment at the Savoy, was adjusting the photographs and arranging the flowers when she was surprised by a caller, who came up without the formality of sending his name.

"Do you think," Blair asked her, "that Miss Lane would see me half a minute? I called yesterday, and the day before, as soon as I saw that there was a substitute singing in Mandalay. Tell her I'm as full of news as a charity report, please, and I rather guess that will fetch her."

Something fetched her, for in a few minutes she came languidly in, and by the way she smiled at her visitor it might be thought Dan Blair's name alone had brought her in. The actress had been ill for a fortnight with what the press notices said was influenza. She wore a teagown, long and white as foam, her hair rolled in a soft knot, and her face was pale as death, frail and small as she was, she was more ethereal than when in perfect health.

"Don't stand a minute." And by the hand she gave him Dan led her over to the lounge where the pillows were piled and a fur-lined silk cover thrown across the sofa.

"Don't give me that heavy rug, there's that little white shawl." She pointed to it, and Dan, as he gave it to her, recognized the shawl in which she wrapped herself when she crossed the icy wings.

"It's in those infernal side scenes

you get colds."

He sat down by her. She began to cough violently and he asked, troubled, "Who's taking care of you, anyway?"

"Higgins and a couple of doctors."

"That's all?"

"Yes. Why, who should be?"

Dan didn't follow up his jealous suspicion, but asked in a tone almost paternal and softly confidential:

"How are your finances getting on?" Her lips curved in a friendly smile. But she made a dismissing gesture with her frail little hand.

"Oh, I'm all right; Higgins told me you had some news about my poor people."

The fact that she did not take up the financial subject made him unpleasantly sure that her wants had been supplied.

"Got a whole bunch of news," Dan replied cheerfully. "I went to see the old man and the girl in their diggings. Gosh, you couldn't believe such things were true."

She drew her fine brows together. "I guess there are a good many things that would surprise you. But you don't need to tell me about their times."

"Now Please Do Tell Me About the Poor People."

That's the way I am. I'll do anything, give anything, so long as I don't have to hear hard stories." She turned to him confidentially. "Perhaps it's acting in false scenes on the stage; perhaps it's because I'm lazy and selfish, but I can't bear to hear about tales of woe."

What she said somewhat disturbed his idea of her big-hearted charity.

"I don't believe you're lazy or selfish," he said sincerely, "but I've got an idea that not many people really know you."

This amused her. Looking at him quizzically, she laughed. "I expect you think you do."

Dan answered: "Well, I guess the people that see you when you are a kid, who come from your own part of the country, have a sort of friendship." And the girl on the sofa from the depths of her shawl put out a thin little hand to him and said in a voice as lovely in tone as when she sang in Mandalay:

"Well, I guess that's right! I guess that's about true."

After the tenth of a second, in which she thought best to take her little hand away from those big warm ones, she asked:

"Now please do tell me about the poor people."

SANE HALLOWE'EN BEING ADVOCATED

Effort to Stop Custom of Destroying Property and Making Night Hideous—Comes Oct. 30.

TO DISCOURAGE VANDALISM

A sane Halloween is now being talked by reformers and advocates of the sane Fourth throughout the country. The purpose is to interest mayors of cities in the movement that orders may be given the police to discourage vandalism.

Success of all the reformers in bringing about a sane Fourth in every community where it has been attempted is encouraging to the sane Halloween advocates. They point out that it is just as desirable to have a sane Halloween as a sane Fourth and that the custom of destroying property and making the night hideous should be frowned upon everywhere.

A campaign of education to create sentiment against the wild orgies of Halloween may be conducted in many of the larger cities of the State during the coming month.

Italian Losses Before Tripoli
Were Zero.

TURKS SUFFER BUT SLIGHTLY

It is Officially Reported That Invading Forces Did Not Lose a Single Man
in the Storming of Tripoli and That the Turks Lost but Three Dead and Twenty Wounded—Italians Are Now
Masters of the Situation.

Rome, Oct. 7.—A wireless message
from some portion of the Red sea says
the Italian warship Aretusa attacked
and seriously damaged the fortifications of Hodeida, a seaport of Arabia.
She also sank a Turkish gunboat. A score of the crew of the latter were killed. Many others plunged into the sea and were rescued by boats from the Italian vessel.

Rome, Oct. 7.—On the coasts of Tripoli and Cyrene the Italians are now masters of the situation. Landing parties covered by the guns of the fleet hold the ports pending the arrival of the army of occupation, whose departure is being hastened. There has been no attack upon the Turks who have retreated to the interior. It has been officially announced that the government will not delay news of military engagements or operations.
News from private sources is declared to be untrustworthy. The announcement is interpreted as meaning that operations have been suspended until
the occupation has been accomplished
and in the meantime to check con-jectures in newspapers.

Admiral Aubrey sent a message to Rome saying that sailors from the battleship Vittorio Emanuele have landed at Marsatebruk, east of Derna without resistance. The Italians have thus occupied a point in Cyrenaca as well as Tripoli. Eighteen transports are now ready to sail for Africa. The Duke of the Abruzzi has returned to Taranto, where he met an enthusiastic welcome.

The cruiser San Marco, which has arrived at Agosta, reports that during the bombardment of Tripoli eight Turkish torpedo boats attempted to attack the Italian battleships. The battleships fired two shells and sunk
two of the torpedo boats, and the others fled. The Italians had not a single man killed or wounded, and none of the warships were damaged.

In spite of other reports, it is now
said that only three Turks were killed
and that twenty wounded were found
by the Italians when they went ashore
at Tripoli.

Turkey Calls It Brigandage.

Constantinople, Oct. 7.—At a meeting in the mosque of St. Sophia a telegram of protest against Italy's declaration of war on Turkey was formulated and sent to all the parliaments of the world, peace and arbitration societies, universities, Socialist organizations and The Hague peace tribunal.

The telegram says the occupation of Tripoli is unjustified and that Italy is unworthy of a place among the great powers. It asked whether western civilization has considered the effect upon the eastern mind of Italy's brigandage.
The meeting also sent the following
message to King George of England:

"How can a power like England, ruling between 80,000,000 and 90,000,000
of Moslems, regard with complaisant
silence the declaration of war against the Ottoman nation and the blockade of Tripoli? Is such a policy in harmony with the present and future interests of England?"

Death of Sid Conger.

Indianapolis, Oct. 7.—Sidney Conger
of Shelbyville, former oil inspector,
one of the most widely known men in Indiana, and who had long figured in Republican politics, is dead in a local sanatorium. He had been suffering for more than a year from cancer of the throat.

He Was Ill and Despondent.

Richmond, Ind., Oct. 7.—William Fetta, fifty years old, was found dead
in his home, with a bullet hole in his head. He had been in ill health and despondent. He was a son of Christian Fetta, formerly one of the city's most prominent men.

REV. JOHN F. CARSON

Moderator of Presbyterian
General Assembly on Tour.

Indianapolis, Oct. 7.—The Rev. John F. Carson of Brooklyn, N. Y., moderator of the general assembly of the Presbyterian church, is in the city to remain over Sunday. Dr. Carson is making a tour arranged by the executive commission of the general assembly, to thirty-three cities of the west and middle west. Dr. and Mrs. Carson were the guests of honor last evening
at a reception given to the Presbyterian ministers and officials and their wives.

REFUSES PETITION FROM CALIFORNIA

McNamara Case Exhibits Will Not Leave Indiana.

Indianapolis, Oct. 7.—The petition of the state of California asking that it be permitted to transfer to California
the evidence held by Marion county in the McNamara dynamiting cases was denied by Judge Markey of the criminal court. In denying the petition, Judge Markey sustained the motion of Prosecutor Frank P. Baker asking that the petition be stricken from the files of the court. Judge Markey pointed out that it was absolutely necessary
that the desired evidence remain in Marion county. He said expert accountants were going over the evidence now, and when they had completed their inspection more indictments might be returned on facts discovered by them.

Judge Markey cited the statutes in Indiana which provide that it is the duty of the judge of a court to protect and preserve the evidence held by the court. He said he did not doubt the good faith of the California court, but said if the evidence was sent to California, there was good reason to believe that it would be difficult to get it back.

UNCONSTITUTIONAL

That Is What Employes Say of Illinois
State-Wide Civil Service Law.

Springfield, Ill., Oct. 7.—James Gul-
let, H. B. Williams and J. C. Peck, employes in the office of Secretary of State Rose, have been granted leave
by the supreme court to file a petition
for a writ of mandamus to compel Auditor of Public Accounts McCullough
to issue warrants on the state treasurer for the payment of their back
salaries, without the civil service commission passing on the payroll. The petitioners allege that the state-wide
civil service law is unconstitutional.

ANOTHER GREAT DAM GIVES WAY

Black River Falls, Wis., Practically Wiped Out.

REPORT SAYS FORTY ARE DEAD

This Report, However, Is Regarded as Exaggerated, Timely Warning Had Been Given to the People in Devastated Valley and Only Those Who Failed to Heed the Warning Could Have Perished.

LaCrosse, Wis., Oct. 7.—By the rushing down the valley of Black river of the waters of Lake Arbutus, the artificial lake created by the $500,000 water power dam at Hatfield, five miles above Black River Falls, has been wiped out of existence. Two are known to be dead, rumors are reaching here hourly
of other casualties, and one report is that there are forty dead. Confirmation of this report is impossible, but while there have undoubtedly been many fatalities, the number dead can hardly be so large, for it was known
hours before that the Hatfield dam
was imperiled, and the people throughout the valley were warned. Only those who refused to heed can have perished.

Black River Falls, a city of 2,000,
has been practically destroyed. Thirty business blocks, including the biggest in the town, a three-story structure, the Hotel Freeman, have been washed away.

Only the early giving of warning
saved Black River Falls from a repetition of the Austin disaster. The telephone operators of the two companies stood at their switchboards until the buildings in which they were working were filled three feet deep
with water, and the girls were then carried to high land, just before the first of the flood reached them.

A dozen smaller towns between Black River Falls and here are either in the floor or expecting the water to reach them. It is from these places that the reports have come of forty dead. This figure must be accepted with great reservation. Estimates
here place the possible financial loss
at $10,000,000, but this figure, like the death loss, is doubtless beyond the mark.

SOLD STOLEN GOODS

How Employes of Wholesale House
Undermined Firm's Trade.

Bloomington, Ill., Oct. 7.—An extensive system of fraud by which the wholesale grocery firm of Campbell Holton & Co. has been robbed of thousands of dollars' worth of goods developed with the arrest of Carl Stacer,
a billing clerk, and other employes and outside draymen. Five men are now in the toils and others are under suspicion.

Stacer, who had charge of the distribution of all stock, it is alleged,
would supply draymen with groceries
and they would sell them to dealers
for about three-fourths of their value.
So cleverly was the game carried on
that the firm did not have the slightest suspicion until informed by a detective of the police department who observed one of the draymen delivering some of the articles surreptitiously.
Confessions were secured from several under arrest and action may be taken against the grocers who have been purchasing the stolen property.

UNEXPECTED FLIGHT

West Virginia Judge Caught in Wires
of His Son's Aerial Craft.

Parkersburg, W. Va., Oct. 7.—
Caught in the wires of his son's aero-plane, which suddenly started backing
after leaving the aviation field, Judge Homer B. Woods, one of the wealthiest men of the county, was carried fifty feet off the ground and when the craft turned turtle he was, with his son, thrown to the top branches of a large oak. While in a very serious condition the aged judge is not thought to be fatally injured. His son escaped with minor injuries. The machine was one constructed by young Woods,
and after taking it from the hangar,
cranked the engine. Judge Woods was standing near and without warning the craft swooped against him and
he, to prevent being knocked down,
grabbed the wires as the machine left
the ground. The machine was a complete wreck.

May Declare Martial Law.

McComb City, Miss., Oct. 7.—The declaration of martial law is imminent
here on account of the Illinois Central strike trouble, and the military may be placed in complete control at any time. Nearly 500 troops are here ready to enforce martial law, should it be declared, and more are waiting
at their armories under arms elsewhere in Mississippi and could arrive
in a few hours.

Rodgers Again Delayed.

Hammond, Ind., Oct. 7.—Aviator C.
P. Rodgers late yesterday afternoon
gave up his plans to continue his flight
last evening from Hammond to Chicago, owing to the continued wind and rain storm. He remained at Hammond all night and expects to start today for Chicago.

ANNEXES ADDITIONS BUT REFUSES TO PAVE PERKINS

that the school corporation and the county does not have the rights of a resident property owner. He read from the same law Mr. Barrett had quoted and pointed out that the school corporation and the county has the same duties and is subject to the same liabilities only in respect to assessments. If they are resident property owners he asked, where does the county live and where does the school corporation live? Mr. Arbuckle said that he did not believe either Warder Wyatt or Kate Shropshire should be considered as their houses front in Third street.

John H. Kiplinger, attorney for the petitioners, began his argument by pointing out that Mr. Arbuckle contended at the last meeting of the council that Mr. Shropshire is a resident of Perkins street. He held that there is a difference between Shropshire and Wyatt in that there is a house between Shropshires and the corner of Third and Perkins street, while Wyatt's house is on the corner.

It was Mr. Kiplinger's main contention, however, that tenants by entirety are both freeholders and they must both be considered resident property owners and not as one. He said it is the law in Indiana that either person in a joint title shall not commit any act that would effect the other.

Mr. Kiplinger asserted that the city council was proceeding under the wrong statute to improve Perkins street. He held, as he did at the last meeting, that a remonstrance to be effective should contain the names of sixty per cent of the resident property owners instead of fifty percent. He pointed out the law which should be followed and said it required also that the remonstrance should be filed at the time or before the preliminary resolution was prepared. He pointed out that the remonstrance in question was filed nine days after the preliminary resolution was prepared.

But in case the council did proceed under the first act, Mr. Kiplinger asserted that both husband and wife, in the case of joint titles, should be considered as resident property owners. In that event he pointed out that there were thirty-nine resident property owners on the street and that twenty names on the remonstrance would be required when there were only eighteen on the one on file.

Following the argument the members of the council, the mayor and the city attorney retired to the ante-room. After fifteen minutes had elapsed they returned and Dr. C. H. Parsons moved that the remonstrance be declared inefficient and it was quickly seconded by Mr. Moore. The question was taken and the motion put to a vote. Mr. Moore voted aye and Mr. Kelley voted no, but not until he had attempted to explain his vote. He admitted that he did not understand the joint title question, whether or not husband and wife should be considered as one or two and then proceeded to vote no, giving as a reason that the city attorney had advised the councilmen to vote that way. Mr. Newhouse explained his vote in the same manner. Dr. Parsons voted aye vehemently and the deciding vote was left to Mayor B. A. Black, as O. C. Norris was absent. Mayor Black voted no, because the city attorney said that was the proper thing to do. Mr. Newhouse moved the remonstrance be sustained. Mr. Kelley offered a second and the vote was the same as in the other instance.

Then came the factory question for consideration. Mr. Kelley moved that the city run a main to the nearest point in the city limits to the factory, up Perkins street to Eleventh street, then east to a point near the J. M. & I. tracks. Dr. Parsons offered a second and Mr. Newhouse interrupted the procedure by offering an amendment to the motion that the Belmont addition to Rushville and the Stewart & Tompkins addition to Belmont be annexed since a petition was on file bearing the names of a majority of the lot owners. He requested that the city clerk read the names on the petition which bore the signatures of seventy three lot owners in the Stewart & Tompkins addition. There are one hundred and twenty-three lots and the petitioners had a majority. Dr. Parsons stopped the procedure by declaring that Mr. Newhouse was out of order since there was a motion before the house. Mayor Black came to the rescue of Dr. Parsons and rapped the gavel for order, stating the motion before the house. Mr. Newhouse was not to be outdone and it seemed that a little spat was inevitable. Mr. Newhouse contended that he had a right to offer his amendment to the motion and Mayor Black could not deny him that privilege.

But Mayor Black had a happy

thought just then. He happened to recall the fact that the lot owners in Belmont had not been considered, which should be done, he held, in that the amendment was that Belmont be annexed. He was told that there are ninety-six lots in Belmont and by adding that number to the lots in the Stewart & Tompkins addition, he pointed out hurriedly that the petitioners were not in majority. R. L. Tompkins, who was attending the meeting, reminded the mayor, that although there are ninety-six lots in Belmont, there are only sixteen owners and that the petitioners still had a majority. Mayor Black admitted that he had had a poor "hunch."

Dr. Parsons came to the rescue of Mayor Black in this instance and declared that the stand of the council in the past in refusing to admit the two additions was that in annexing them they would be violating the spirit of the law. He asserted that the petition of the lot owners "cut no figure" when the residents of Rushville were considered. He said that it was the intention of the State law that no additions which do not conform to a city shall be admitted.

Councilman Moore suggested that the six-inch main be run up twelfth street rather than Eleventh as it would be more convenient in future years when the addition is built up. Dr. Parsons disagreed with that also.

Then A. L. Stewart of the factory company threw a boom into the council's camp. He arose and said if the information would be of any benefit to the council and if that body cared to save the city money, it would be unnecessary to run the main in Eleventh street as the factory would not use the water. It was a bold move on the part of the factory, but it was a wise and successful coupe as the results indicate.

Dr. Parsons was angry. He flared up in a minute and said "if the Rushville Furniture Company and the Merchants Association is to dictate the policies to be pursued by the city council, we might as well resign." It seemed apparent to everyone in the crowd of interested auditors in the council chamber that the factory company had overstepped itself and made one move too many. It appeared that the question was doomed and that the factory would not be given water even. The statement of Mr. Stewart was so unexpected that the councilmen and all of the crowd was taken unawares. After Dr. Parsons had had his little say it was quiet and then the councilmen, as if by common impulse, got their heads together over the table and held a short whispered conference.

Suddenly and unexpectedly, as all of the moves were made, Councilman Kelly withdrew his motion to run a main to the factory and in the next instant Councilman Newhouse withdrew his amendment to annex the two additions. A sort of a gasp was audible over the council chamber. Every man there settled back in his seat, as if resigned to the fate of the factory. It seemed plain that the council was piqued over the action of A. L. Stewart and had decided to "lay down" and do nothing for the factory.

But then came the climax to the evening of startling actions. Councilman Kelley moved that both additions, including the factory site, be annexed to the city. Another gasp from the audience and everybody arose from the auditor and began to take notice. Most men in the council chamber refused to believe what they heard.

It was suggested that an ordinance be drafted at once describing the tract of land and Councilman Kelley moved that the rules be suspended, the ordinance read the second and third time and be passed. The ordinance was made to read so that a little more than the two additions be annexed. The line describing the tract begins at the corner of Eleventh and Main street, runs north to the northwest corner of Belmont east to the northeast corner of Belmont, thence in a diagonal line southeast to the northwest corner of the factory site, east to what would be Cherry street were it improved, south on Cherry to Eleventh and thence west to the beginning. In that manner the property of Ross Friend, who is being furnished water by the city, was included.

Councilmen Moore, Kelley and Newhouse voted aye, and it was Dr. Parsons turn. He explained that he was opposed to the annexation of the additions, not because he was opposed to the Rushville Furniture Company, but he believed it was a violation of the spirit of the law. "But for the sake of argument," he added,

"I will vote aye and make it unanimous."

It was voted unanimously that the rules be suspended and the ordinance was read three times. A. L. Stewart thanked the council for annexing the additions. Councilman Kelly, chairman of the water and light committee, reported that the city has plenty of material on hands and that work will be started to run the main to the factory at once.
